

Special Assessor Must Be Paid, High Court Rules

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—When the legislature has authorized a county assessor to hire a deputy, the county court must pay the deputy's salary, the Arkansas Supreme Court said today.

The question came up when Jim Cowling, Howard county assessor, upon authority of the legislature, had hired Mrs. Nellie Cowling as his assistant. She was paid for the first three months of 1957, but when she filed a claim for the next three months, the county court disallowed her salary for April, because of "no service rendered."

Mrs. Cowling refused to pay for May to June and appealed to the Howard county circuit court. The circuit court said since she worked only part of April, she was entitled to $75.02 for the month, rather than full salary of $150.

Mrs. Cowling appealed the refusal of the circuit court to give her the full salary. The county in a cross-appeal opposed any allowance at all for the month.

Pay Is Mandatory

"Many interesting questions are briefed by able counsel for the parties but we conclude the salary allowance for the deputy tax assessor is mandatory on the circuit court."

Medical Center Budget Upped by $412,694

EL DORADO (UP)—The University of Arkansas Board of Trustees adopted a $4,906,251 budget this weekend for the school's Little Rock Medical Center — an increase of $412,694 increasing the number of beds in the center.

The increase will go toward increasing the number of beds in the pediatric, neurology and psychiatry wards to 450.

In adopting the budget, the Board issued a statement in which it charged that "overwhelming demands on the University Hospital for medical care of indigent residents of Little Rock, North Little Rock and Pulaski county" have jeopardized "the primary purposes of the hospital" which it said was the teaching and rendering medical service on a statewide basis.

"The Board of Trustees is determined to uphold high teaching standards and to make the center's hospital beds available to patients as medically selected from throughout the state," said the statement.

Russia Trying to Force Talks on Own Terms

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Soviet Russia is trying to force the United States into immediate negotiations to a summit conference in its own terms.

In its latest move, the Soviet government has called on the United States, Britain and France to start talks in Moscow Thursday on preparations for such a meeting.

It also insists that the summit meeting must be held, regardless of the success or failure of any preparatory talks.

In this new step, the Kremlin seems clearly to be trying to take advantage of the growing worldwide pressure for any sort of conference which would offer hopes, however slight, of reducing world tensions.

Reds Jump Gun
The Russian proposals were made in a note last Friday sent in reply to a United States-British-French note of March 31.

The allied note proposed that "diplomatic exchanges should start in Moscow in the second half of April."

Russia seized on this suggestion to call on the Allies to start the talks in Moscow this Thursday, thus allowing the Allies hardly any time to formulate a common policy.

Russia and the Allies now agree that the preliminary talks should lead to a meeting of foreign ministers. The foreign ministers, in turn, would arrange for the summit conference.

The Russian note made one apparent concession to the terms which Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has laid down for a summit meeting.

More Apparent Than Real
This is that, as the Soviet note put it, the foreign ministers could "exchange opinion on some of the questions" which might be put on the program for a summit meeting.

At the start of the tedious negotiations for a summit meeting, now in their fifth month, the Soviet government rejected the idea of any meeting of foreign ministers at all.

The Russian concession is more apparent than real.

While Russia agrees that the foreign ministers might "exchange opinions" on some issues, it says that such an exchange could be held only "by common agreement."

The State Department lost no time in saying that the Russian note was unacceptable.

Quick Action Is Not Likely as Congress Meets

By UNITED PRESS

Congress returned from its pulse taking Easter recess today with battle lines hardening for coming battles over anti-recession and defense reorganization measures.

But, except for some committee work, neither House nor Senate linked any issues today. The weather was fine and it was the opening day of the baseball season. So both houses adjourned after perfunctory meetings, and members took off for the ball park. The House met for 32 minutes and the Senate for 24.

Former President Harry S. Truman opened the post-Easter recess debate in testimony before the House Banking Committee. He urged Congress to give low and middle income groups a five-billion-dollar tax cut, and to increase spending on defense, public works and health and welfare measures.

He also urged increased social security benefits as "one of the most desirable methods of expanding purchasing power."

The Senate will turn back to anti-recession legislation Tuesday when it resumes debate on a Democratic sponsored bill to provide a billion dollars in loans to communities for public works projects. Republican members, acting on a go-slow signal from President Eisenhower, forced a delay on this measure before the Easter recess.

The House Ways and Means Committee goes to work Wednesday on differing administration and Democratic proposals to provide extra unemployment pay to persons who have exhausted their benefits.

President Eisenhower prodded Congress Sunday to act "as swiftly as possible" on the issue.

Other congressional news: "Reorganization" Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson told newsmen he favored reorganization of the Defense Department but did not know whether he would "buy everything" in the plan put forward by Eisenhower. He said he would not go along with the President's proposal to give the defense secretary broad power to transfer funds voted by Congress for spending on other purposes. Johnson said he favored giving the secretary only "limited" discretion over military spending.

Rackets: The Senate Rackets Committee announced that a two-week postponement of the James H. Hoffa trial in New York will enable it to open a new series of hearings on the Teamsters Union Tuesday. Federal Judge John M. Cushman had threatened to declare a mistrial if the committee went ahead with the inquiry. Hoffa is president of the Teamsters. But Committee Chairman John F. McClellan (D-Ark.) said the U.S. attorney in charge of the Hoffa case had agreed to delay bringing it to trial so the committee's hearings could proceed as scheduled.

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Two Republicans took their hats into the ring for Governor of Arkansas today, the first to file under the Supreme Court-Approved 1957 Republican primary law.

which the Democratic-controlled House and Senate largely concentrated in the first three months of the session.

There are signs too of a stiffening resistance by President Eisenhower and his advisers to some of the proposals being pushed by Democrats to stimulate business and employment.

However, additional antirecession measures will claim the immediate attention of the Senate and House as members reassemble after their 10-day recess.

The House Banking Committee will start hearings Monday on unemployment, with former President Harry S. Truman as the lead-off witness. Ten governors and spokesmen for industry and labor are scheduled to testify at later sessions.

The House Ways and Means Committee may act Tuesday on legislation to extend unemployment compensation payments to aid workers who have exhausted their benefits.

In the Senate, the pending business is a bill by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) to authorize a billion dollars worth of long-term, low-interest loans for local public works projects.

No vote on the bill is expected until later in the week, but it may provide a clue to how members are gauging the economy as well as the sentiment of their constituents.

Eisenhower interpreted the latest unemployment figures, released last week, as showing a slowing up in the business decline. And he made plain that before deciding on whether to recommend a tax cut, as urged by some members of Congress, he intends to wait until the economic situation is in clearer focus.

Congressional leaders have taken a similar stand, but considerable sentiment for reducing taxes turned up in a nationwide Associated Press survey of Congress members during the Easter recess.

By a margin of about 2-1 those taking a stand said they favored a tax cut. However, they were in wide disagreement over the form it should take.

The House and Senate members, nearly a third of whom responded to the survey, said they found the people at home concerned primarily about unemployment, living costs, taxes and other problems tied in with the recession.

Already Congress has passed a bill to spur housing construction and another to speed up highway building. Eisenhower has signed the housing measure, but reports have cropped up that he may veto the highway bill.

A&M Purge Is Revealed by Newspaper

MONTICELLO (UP)—A purge is on at Arkansas A&M College and President Horace E. Thompson and Football Coach Willis (Conway) Leslie are the first intended victims, the Arkansas Gazette said Sunday.

The story, by State Editor Ken Parker, said Thompson would "probably" resign or be fired by March 1, 1959 and probably would be succeeded July 1, 1959, by former state Sen. Lee Reeves of Warren.

Parker's story singled out Bynnie Ryburn of Monticello as the leader of the ouster move. Ryburn was appointed to the A&M board by Gov. Faubus, Rep. C. Carroll C. Hollensworth of Bradley county also was named as one of those backing the move along with Clinton Frigg of Dermott and Paul Godey of England, two other board members.

Sen. Jack Shelton of Monticello, John F. (Mud) Gibson of Dermott, a former prosecutor, the Rev. Roland E. Darrow, pastor of the Monticello First Methodist Church and Dean James H. Hutchinson also were said to be in agreement with the move to relieve Thompson and Leslie of their jobs.

The story said some opinions are that Gov. Orval Faubus' role in the purge may stem from the fact that Thompson took leave from his post to serve a term as Revenue Commissioner under former Gov. Francis Cherry, a political rival of Faubus.

Military Plane Accidents Leave 8 Dead

By UNITED PRESS

A series of week-end military plane crashes, one of them involving the Air Force's newest and biggest transport, has claimed at least eight lives.

Four men were killed when a C-133 cargo plane crashed in flames in the Ellersdale State Forest near Georgetown, Del. The new four-engine plane, costing an estimated $3,400,000, plunged to earth about 10 minutes after taking off from Dover Air Force Base.

Firemen battled the flames two hours before bringing them under control. Wreckage was strewn over a quarter of a mile.

The victims were identified as Raymond R. Bern, 37, Long Beach, Calif., the pilot; Lt. Herbert T. Palsch, 25, St. Louis, Mo., co-pilot; T.Sgt. Marvin A. Anst, 29, Hays, Kan., engineer; and T.Sgt. Edward L. McKinley Jr., 33, Meridian, Miss.

Near Tacoma, Wash., three men were killed when their C-47 Air Force plane crashed during a practice landing at McChord Air Force Base. Observers said the craft cart-wheeled and crashed during a landing approach and burst into flames.

Reserve Capt. Wayne F. Reed, 38, Tacoma, pilot; Reserve Capt. Cyril E. Walmsley, 36, Shelton, Wash., and T.Sgt. Roy E. Craft, 28, Tacoma, were killed.

An F-100 jet plane crashed and exploded in an alfalfa field near Blanchard, Okla., killing the pilot, Lt. Richard L. Glassberg, 24, New Rochelle, N.Y.

An Air National Guard F-86 jet fighter plummeted into Boston Harbor Sunday, but the pilot parachuted into the water and was rescued by a pleasure boat.

Hopeful for Pre-Summit Talks Soon

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today voiced hope that pre-summit diplomatic talks with Russia will begin "in a few days" and that they may lead to "substantial" steps toward disarmament.

But Dulles quickly said he was not sure this would be the case. He made the remarks in a general review of world problems before the International Press Institute.

At the same time Western sources in London said the West will accept Russia's proposal to begin preliminary ambassadorial talks in Moscow—possibly as early as Thursday. But the sources said the West would not commit itself in advance to a summit conference—as Russia insists—regardless of the outcome of the preliminary diplomatic discussions.

A formal reply by Britain, France and the United States to the latest Soviet note is expected late today or Tuesday.

Dulles said it would be "illusory" to think that any dependable agreement on topics like disarmament can be reached with Russia "without preparatory work."

"The matter is extremely complex and extremely complicated and any meaningful decision requires preparation," Dulles said.

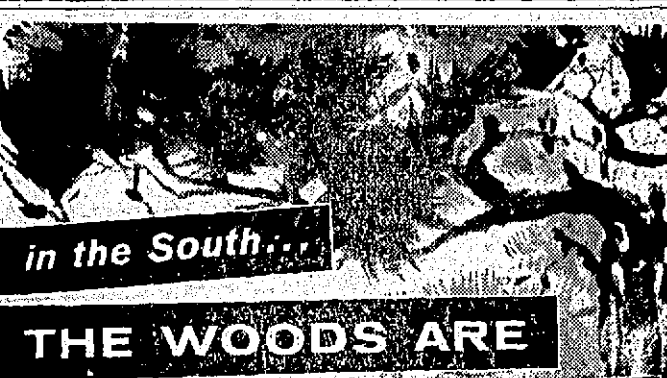

"That is why we hope that the preparatory talks which may get started now within a few days—I don't know—that they permit a sufficient preparation so that some substantial, meaningful agreements could later on be reached. That is our effort."

The rate of industrial growth in the South during the past 20 years has led the nation. The pulp and paper industry is a leader in this Southern progress.

Sixty-three primary pulp and paper mills are located in Dixie. They employ over 77,000 persons in the woods, mills and offices. Another 81,000 harvest pulpwood.

The pulp and paper industry annually contributes over one billion dollars to the South's economy at the rate of three million dollars a day. It also is giving new impetus to the region's agriculture because pulpwood has become a vitally important new cash crop to Southern farmers.

Farmers and other landowners are assured an expanding market for their trees since paper consumption is growing by leaps and bounds each year. It is predicted that 50 to 60 percent more pulpwood will be needed by 1967.

Growing trees—like growing any other crop—requires sound management. Forests that are cut properly go on producing trees generation after generation. Forests that are now non-productive can be converted into money-making areas.

PULP and PAPER DAY—April 15

Pulp and Paper Day will be celebrated throughout the South on April 15. This event will focus public attention on the economic importance to the region of the pulp and paper industry, its role in the South's modern agricultural development... and the tremendous economic opportunities more productive forests offer in the years ahead.

Accident in

La. Hathecoat apparently was the driver, according to Arkansas County Coroner Russell McCollum. Hathecoat was an employee of the Frost Lumber Co., owned by Olin Mathieson Corp. A spokesman for the company at Baton Rouge said Frisby was not an employee.

The coroner said Hathecoat died instantly and Frisby about an hour later while he was still trapped in the cab of the truck. Two wreckers were needed to lift the truck so the bodies could be removed.

Hathecoat was enroute from Huttie, Memphis.

Three persons were killed in a head-on crash three miles north of Russellville, Saturday night. State Police identified the dead as David Wayne Gilbert, 15, and Paul Ray Poynter, both of Dover, and Arthur Wayne Toney, 25, of Valley Station, Ky.

Cecil Tidwell, 31, of Jonesboro, was killed Saturday night when he lost control of his car in U.S. 63 a mile south of Bay, state police reported.

Tidwell was alone in his car at the time.

Mrs. Retha Fay Fox, 19, died in a Paris hospital Sunday of injuries she suffered in a two-car collision last Thursday.

She was thrown from the car in the impact and dragged about 100 feet before the car came to rest on top of her. Her husband, Lawrence Fox, was driver of the car, which collided with one driven by Robert G. Poshee, 28, of Paris.

A 48-year-old Pine Bluff hotel maintenance man drowned late Sunday when his boat swamped in the swift Arkansas river near Reynolds. He was Sterling Woods, the father of six children. He and a commercial fisherman were returning to the bank. They cut off the motor at a jolt, and the high and fast running water swamped the boat. The body had not been recovered today.

DOROTHY DIX

Man Pays Promises For 4-Year Affair

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a divorcee and have been living with a man whose divorce is pending. I love him devotedly and am sure I could be the companion and homemaker to him that his wife never was. We've been together for four years, and he's no nearer divorce now than when we began. There's always some hitch. He says we're happy together so why worry about the future? I don't want to live this way. I think he's ruining my life. What is wrong with him?

C. A. L.: Correction please. You're ruining your own life; the man seems to be doing all right. There's only one course for you — pack up and get out. After you've gone a block you'll find you can hold your head up, which hasn't been possible for four years. Aren't you getting a bit tired of being ashamed? You can overcome it by the simple gesture of walking through a door. Make the trip now!

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm in love with a man on radio, a character in one of the stories I follow. I suppose I'm foolish, but his voice thrills me. I hope you can advise me what to do.

KITTEN
Dear Kitten: Change stations. Radio actors are selected because they have thrilling voices; doubtless many other women have built daydreams around the person of the "man you love." More than likely he's happily married, and almost certainly he wouldn't be the least bit attracted to you. Dream about him if you like, but do something constructive to build your personal life so you won't depend on phantom voices for your happiness.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm about to meet a boy with whom I have corresponded for some months. I want to make a good impression on him, and am confident I can except for one thing — freckles! Otherwise I'm not bad looking but sure would love to get rid of those spots before the all-important meeting.

ANN Y.:
Dear Ann: Freckles are kinda cute; why fuss with creams and lotions that may or may not do any good? Turn your defect into an asset. Be proud of your freckles. I'm sure if the boy likes everything else about you, he won't be scared off by a few spots.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband is an alcoholic although he gets a little better all the time. He's always sorry and ashamed when he goes back to the bottle. He's always kind and generous, never abusive but I don't think this is the right atmosphere for our six-year-old son. Should I go on living with him, or leave him? TERRY

Dear Terry: Your husband is as much your responsibility as your son is, even if he's not the perfect mate, you can't desert him when he needs you. He does try to overcome his weakness. With you he may one day succeed; without you he won't have an incentive to get better. Has he sought help from Alcoholics Anonymous? If not, have him contact them. Pray constantly, and you'll live to bless the day you decided not to leave him. You may get further help from my leaflet on "Alcoholism." Please send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope for it.

Rainstorms Hit Areas in the Southwest

By UNITED PRESS

A collision of cold and warm air masses over the Southwest sent funnel clouds spinning over northern Oklahoma and touched off torrential rains and hail storms in parts of Texas.

The storm area Sunday night extended over most of the southern Plains and into the lower Mississippi Valley. Weathermen blamed the storm on a stream of warm, moist air from the gulf coast meeting unusually cold air in the south-central section of the nation.

Several funnel clouds were sighted in a line of thunderstorms over northern Oklahoma late Sunday. But no tornadoes touched the ground.

In Texas, heavy showers and hail pounded an area ranging from Austin to San Marcos. Austin was hit by .88 inch of rain in a brief eight-minute deluge, along with one-half inch hail stones. At San Marcos, hail stones piled up a 2 1/2-inch layer of ice on the ground.

Snow fell Sunday from the southern Rockies in Roswell, N.M., and in the mountains south of Albuquerque.

Cold Pacific air pushed into the Northwest Sunday night, bringing rain to Washington and Oregon and east to the Rockies. Elsewhere, fair skies and balmy temperatures brought pleasant spring weather to much of the nation from the northern Plains through the Great Lakes and into the mid-Atlantic region.

Forecasters predicted fair skies today over the far Southwest, the southern Rockies, northern Plains, the Great Lakes and the north Atlantic states.

Scattered rains were expected in the Pacific Northwest and portions of the Great Basin, most of Texas and the gulf states into Florida.

Arkansas ranks fifth in strawberry production among states of the Union.

News Briefs

MOSCOW (UP)—The army newspaper Red Star told its readers Sunday a flight of geese over the United States triggered air raid alarms that sent U.S. hydrogen bombers winging toward Russia.

"There's an old saying that geese once saved Rome," the paper said. "This time American geese could ruin the United States. But the main fault lies not in the flying geese but the geese who wear uniforms and handle military hysteria, giving 'dangerous orders'."

NAIROBI, Kenya (UP)—Kenya police pointed on a Kikuyu secret society called Kiam Kiam Muringi Sunday and arrested 153 men. It was the biggest roundup since 1952 when 109 leaders of the Kikuyu antiwhite Mau Mau organization were nabbed.

TOKYO (UP)—Two Soviet jet airplanes which brought the Leningrad Symphony Orchestra to Japan for performances left for home Sunday carrying a 21-member Japanese amateur puppet show troupe which will perform in the U.S.E.P.

When Distance Is Always Tempting!

Take a new Cadillac—point its head toward some distant destination—and watch what happens!

We would be willing to wager that day's end would find you far closer to journey's end than you could ever have imagined!

We say this because we know how wonderful the miles are when they pass beneath the wheels of a new Cadillac—and how tempting distance is when seen through the windshield of the "car of cars".

First of all, imagine how comfortable and rested you would be. The seat-cushions are soft and deep and perfectly contoured. The steering wheel is ideally positioned, and the car is wonderfully spacious.

Then consider how easy the car is to handle! It is incredibly agile and responsive—and wonderfully smooth and level of ride. In fact, if you have selected the extra-cost option of Cadillac's air suspension, you can scarcely detect the presence of the road.

And think of your pride and contentment! The very knowledge that your motor car is so highly admired and so widely respected adds its own reward to each and every mile.

You ought to try it soon. Your dealer will be happy to explain the virtues of Fleetwood coachcrafting—and to give you the facts on every model, including the exclusive Eldorado Brougham.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

advertisers

WHAT?

invested record $3,070,000,000

WHERE?

in newspapers

WHY?

...newspapers produce top results!

Last year, advertisers—large and small, national and local—spent more than $9 billion on all forms of advertising.

The lion's share—$3,070,000,000 or one-third—was invested in newspapers. A record-shattering sum. A sum greater than that put in TV, magazines, radio and outdoor combined!

With circulation up to a new high of 56,000,000 copies purchased daily, the newspaper continues to give the most value received for dollar investment. Here's how advertisers rated leading advertising media as reflected by the money they invested, according to preliminary estimates for 1955, Printers' Ink, Feb. 10, 1956:

Newspapers.....	$3,070,000,000
Television.....	1,005,000,000
Magazines.....	723,500,000
Radio.....	545,000,000
Outdoor.....	192,500,000

Use the newspaper to get the best return on your advertising dollar.
